ESKEW BROS., Machinists, REPRESENT INDUSTRIAL PROGRESS.

Are You Advancing?

PROGRESS means to make improvement--to advance. For a farmer it means the use of any machine that will increase crops with the least work. When you progress you are striving for easier methods of doing things, better ways of living, and the attainment of all improvements which will help you to live comfortably so that you can enjoy your work, and at the same time relish the free, fresh air and sunshine. Are you doing it? Do you progress?

THE NEW WALTER A. WOOD MOWER — THE ADMIRAL

"A little bit the best Mower that ever went into the field"

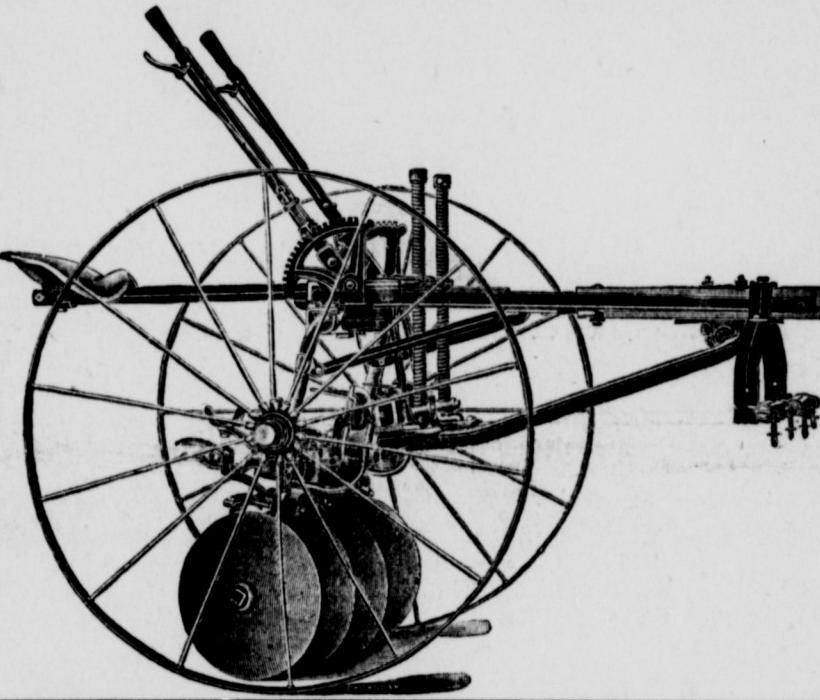

The Admiral is the latest Walter A. Wood Mower. In it is concentrated their fifty-seven year experience. It possesses all the peculiar features of construction that have made Walter A. Wood Mowers world-famous. Its new features make it even more valuable to the farmer.

The following statement of a prominent Illinois dealer indicates the popularity of the Admiral and suggests the wisdom of investigation.

"The Admiral is just a little bit the best Mower that ever went into the field. Farmers come in every day telling what a wonderful machine it is. We would not buy anything else."

We want to show this up-to-date Mower to every farmer in this locality. No one who wants to keep posted on the newest in farm machinery will neglect to investigate the Admiral. It will surprise and delight you.

McCormick and Walter A. Wood machines are recommended by men who use them, they could have no better recommendation than this. It is to your interest to use this line as they are best and give the least trouble in repairs, as we carry a full line at our shop. Get our prices and see our machines before you buy. We take pleasure in showing them.

Do You Believe In Progress?

Men who progress are men who use McCormick or Walter A. Wood's up-to-date binders, hay-rakes, mowers, hay-tedders, reapers, harrows, cultivators, planters and etc. Are you up to date? Are you using modern farm machines? Look at your equipment. Aren't some of your machines pretty well worn? Shouldn't you replace them? There is no line of farm machines superior to our line. These machines are used in every civilized country in the world.

SPLENDID PROGRESS

MADE IN ROAD BUILDING.

Full List Of All Subscriptions

All advances in civilization are brought about by either moral or physical reforms. The building of good roads is a physical reform. It is said that "Cleanliness is next to Godliness" and a companion couplet reads "Good roads begets good morals". These couplets are not found in the Bible but they certainly breathe the spirit of sacred inspiration.

The building and maintenance of good roads in any community, County or State is conclusive evidence of a well balanced public mind, a reasonable desire for comfort, and a keen appreciation of their value in dollars and cents. The earliest systematic effort at road making is accredited to the Carthaginians and was begun for the purposes of war and the conquest of distant countries. 55 years before Christ, Julius Caesar built a road from London to New Castle-on-Tyne and this road is one of the best in all England and is used to-day. The Romans were the greatest road makers the world ever saw and they conquered the world. English roads are the best on the continent and one of their most celebrated road makers was Macadam, a Scotchman, whose success at road building founded on thorough drainage.

The most celebrated road in all history is the Appian way leading from Rome Italy to the coast. It was begun by Appius Claudius Cœrus 312 years before Christ was born, and was built of hexagonal, or six sided blocks, principally of lava, and carefully laid with cement. This is a model highway to this day.

The Apostle Paul journeyed to Rome over this road some 350 years later and as soon as he struck this remarkable piece of engineering he "Thanked God and took courage". We understand of course, from the text that the sight of the brethren caused the exclamation, and yet Paul had traveled a tempestuous route, buffeted by the wind and waves, assaulted by robbers, in peril on land and sea, and is it too much to presume that when this old soldier of the cross planted his feet on the solid rock of Appius and felt a foundation under his feet like unto the foundation of the religion he preached, that part of his thanks to God was for good roads.

There is not a doubt in the world but what we can have good roads if we will "Aye theres the rub" if we will. If our people will to have good roads we will have them. Good roads are an investment not an expense. If a farmer puts a $500.00 tobacco barn on his farm, is it lost? No, it is an investment and he promptly adds that much to the value of his farm. $100,000.00 spent on good roads in Crittenden County will add $200,000.00 to the value of the farms of this county.

The Crittenden Record-Press is deeply interested in this subject and will do everything in its power to help this work along, and particularly urges each and every one to put his shoulder to the wheel and let us have one piece of good road as a starter in this county. Let it be as good as can be constructed and the we will have a pattern for the inspection of all the people. Precept and preaching are good but example is the best of all teaching.

The Record-Press is happy to announce that we have $2,070.00 in cash subsribed to date and 367 days work for team and one man. This latter is worth $1,101. which added to the cash makes $3,171.00.

We must have $1,200.00 more. We have to have this to guarantee the fiscal court in its share of the work which is the grading and building. This must and will be raised by May 15th on which day we will have a good roads meeting and elect some non-salaried officers. Everyone is invited to attend this meeting. All subscriptions to date follow:

THE TURN IN THE LANE.

(By M. H. Lockyear.)

When winter is past and springtime has come, When song birds are happy and bees start to hum.
When the bloom on the clover bears its sweetest perfume,
And the roses get red in the middle of June, Oh! it's then I go back to the turn in the lane,
And live over the joys of my childhood again.

I can see the old house, as it stood on the hill,
The creek through the meadow, the old water mill;
The long country road with its dust or its mud.
The old crooked path as it wound through the wood;
The barefooted boys as they played hide and seek,
In the willows which fringed both sides of the creek.

I go out to the field where the green waving grain Is fanned by the breezes and fed by the rain, And its waves rise and fall as if bowing to me As they frolic and toss like the billowy sea.
I visit the orchard with its blossoms so fair,
The perfume of which fills the soft summer air.

But time has changed the old country place, Like the change that has come to my once youthful face.
The hillside is furrowed and wearing away,
And the walls of the house have begun to decay.
I pause to reflect as this story is told,
That visions of youth are still ours when we're old.

The friends we loved then are the friends we love now, Though grey be their hair and wrinkled their brow; The teachers we had are instructing us still For lessons they taught are controlling our will.

The years that are past their wonders have wrought, While the lessons of youth are never forgot.
So to-day I go back to the turn in the lane,
And live over the joys of my childhood again.
I can see the old house as it stood on the hill,
The creek through the meadow, the old water mill,
The clover still bears its sweetest perfume,
And the roses get red in the middle of June.

OPENS CAMPAIGN

Congressman Ollie M. James Delivers Opening Address at Nicholasville

LARGE CROWD HEARS ORATOR

Address Was in Interest of His Candidacy For the United States Senatorship in Race Against Senator Paynter.

Nicholasville, Ky.—Congressman Ollie M. James, candidate for the Democratic nomination for United States Senate against Senator T. H. Paynter, opened his campaign in this city Monday. The largest crowd in the history of Jessamine county was in town to hear the big orator of Western Kentucky. After an introduction by Senator B. M. Arnett, Mr. James spoke as follows:

Senator Paynter states that he did not undertake to take any action relative to influencing members of the State Executive Committee about calling a primary or taking any action relative to selecting nominees for the United States Senate. He says he thought any action they should take would be with a view of conserving the best interests of the party. As to whether he undertook any action or not, it is a fact well known to the people of Kentucky that every close personal friend of his, together with the Democrats from the district in which he lives or did live, voted against including the race in the primary, and after a primary had been ordered for all State offices the United States Senatorship was excluded from the primary in direct violation of Democratic doctrine and platform promises for almost a quarter of a century.

The Senator still sat silent as he says, I presume still believing, that any action taken would be with view to conserving the best interests of his party." And, yet, he must have known, that such action as this was reactionary and undemocratic and was stabbing Democratic hopes to the very heart. And, yet, he remained silent, still believing, as he tells us, that the action the committee should take would be to best "conserve the interests of the party." Senator Paynter has never favored a primary election, and today is dragged unwillingly before the proud electorate of the Commonwealth to submit his claims for their confidence and approval and his candidacy to their arbitrament. Senator Paynter was not the choice of the people of Kentucky when he was elected to the Senate; he is not the choice of the people of Kentucky now. I believe I am well within the bounds of reason and truth when I say that Senator Paynter could not have polled, when he was elected to the Senate, more than one vote out of five in Kentucky against Senator Blackburn.

But the Senator dodges the proposition when he states it is unnecessary to state what his preference was as to the nomination of the candidates for state officers and the United States Senate. Senator, I am no mind reader, but I know your preference in the person of Kentucky know what it is. There was a time when it was necessary for you to act. When Democratic platforms were being trampled upon and Democratic issues were imperiled you remained silent.

I was told quite frequently at Louisville, when the primaries were called, that the last, that the primary call was not in proper form and that it must be absolutely legally drawn because Senator Paynter intended to institute a suit in the courts enjoining the holding of the senatorial primary, that he would not do by himself, but by another person who really would be acting in his interest and that, it would be said, of course, that Senator Paynter knew nothing about it; that a primary was entirely satisfactory to him.

My Record.

Senator Paynter says in his card of amendment that he is a member of the great committee of the House and the people of the state can not afford to spare my services from the House, and that I will still remain a member of the House during his term as senator. The Senator doubtless loses sight of the fact that the time of Congress for which I am elected expires at the same time that the senatorial office which he now holds expires and of course the statement that I would remain a member of Congress is untrue and made by the Senator either for the purpose of keeping the people of Kentucky or without the knowledge of the fact that a member of congress is only elected for two years. It is indeed, fellow citizens, gratifying in the extreme to know that after a service of eight years in the House in trying times, I have gained enough popularity, basking at the very entrance, when ladies, great and corrupt, were crowding every hall, when measures affecting the public interests were many and complex, that my opponent can not find one flaw in my record, and was forced to urge to a run, when I should not be forced to a senate that I had proved too faithful in the House. No greater tribute could pay me, no greater compliment would I seek than the admission that the eye of the critic and the enemy could find no fault and that the argument of the administration and yes this argument stands means that to prove worthy of a trust is to be denied greater trust; to prove capable is not to be promoted, and to prove faithful is not to find reward.

People of Kentucky can well say, "We want the services of a man who has risen in the ranks of his party to act for the whole state; for the good of the rest of the state why circumscribe the services of such a man to the narrow limits of single districts? why not let such good services come to all Kentucky?" The argument the Senator makes that because a member of congress has been capable and worthy and prominent in the house, he should be kept there, would have kept Henry Clay out of the Senate, he should have kept George Beckenridge representing a district, he would have kept John C. Crittenden representing a district, he would have kept John G. Carlisle acting for the Sixth Kentucky district, he would have kept John C. Breckinridge in the house and Joseph C. S. Blackburn representing the 14th district, while Senator Paynter addresses this argument to the people of the whole state, it is the only one, in my judgment, by which the Senator could have ever been elected to the Senate, and I presume for that reason it is near and dear to him. Why, even a district might demand that I should remain in the Senate, yet it delights me beyond expression to know that I am supported by the Democrats of that great district as no other candidate presented by it has been with in my knowledge, and are unselfish enough that they are generous enough to support me in this ambition to represent the whole Commonwealth, including themselves, in the United States Senate.

Would Bar Hobble And Harem Skirts.

Tallahassee, Fla., April 17.—

Declaring that any woman who would wear a hobble or harem skirt in public should be sent to jail, Representative Tidwell to-day introduced a bill in the house making it a misdemeanor for a woman to wear either of these garbs in public. Amid much laughter the measure was referred to the Committee on Indian Affairs and War Records.

THE CLODHOPPER AND THE BALD-HEADED MAN

A STIRRING TALE OF LOVE AND BUSINESS.

Written for the Record-Press by ROBERT C. HAYNES, Author of "This Funny World," "Dark Days and Bright," Etc.

IX. Joe Gets Some Advise.

A week rolled away, and Miss Inogene Moss—She was free, of course, from her bald-headed boss—Had been busy assisting in household affairs, Making pies, sweeping floors and the dusting of chasers.
Joseph, too, had been busy—still lifting up hods—He had almost forgotten he'd ever hopped clods—So still up went the bricks to the man at the top, With never a shirk and with scarcely a stop.

One ev'ning, however, when Joe had quit work—For the man at the top had cried, "Time is up Turk!"
And had started for home, as was always his plan, He was met on the way by the bald headed man.

"Let me speak to you, Turk, just a moment," he said; I have heard that you've made up your mind soon to wed, Now, of course I can't blame you, 'tis better, I own, As the Bible has said, than to live all alone.
"You've a good paying job, that of lifting up hods—I'm agreeing with you, it beats hopping the clods—And I'd like well to see you thus settled in life In a nice, happy home with a sweet loving wife.

DEAREST.

I ask thee not for costly gifts,
For vows all break when love's adrift, Nor vows of love sincerest, But when you call me "Dearest" I rest content, nor wish for more;
It brings me joy unfailing—For Love's at anchor close to shore And has no thought of sailing.

Of all sweet words of pen or tongue That speak of love the clearest, To rich and poor, to old and young,
Is that sweet title, "Dearest!"
Of all the terms at Love's command The truest and sincerest, Most winning name by nature planned

Is just old-fashioned "Dearest!" It reassures this heart of mine And sets the joy bells ringing, Goes to my head like rare old wine—New joys and hopes upspring, Let others call me as they will,
The kindest or severest, I heed them not, though good or ill While you still call me "Dearest!"

We are authorized to announce Thomas S. Rhea, of Logan county as a candidate for treasurer, of the state of Kentucky, subject to the action of the democratic primary, to be held July 1 1911.

Three weeks of Congress have emphasized the unusual spectacle of a Republican president reaching across the party chasm for the help his own followers denied him.

Reciprocity was ever a favorite chant with the republicans high priests, since the days of James G. Blaine. It gave a ring of "sweetness and light" to the party platforms. The men who pulled the wires were glad enough to swap platform planks freely; as long as the high-brows kept their off the choice of delegates.

Reciprocity was a friendless waif in the crowd that used to control Congress. They had a special pigeon hole made with a false bottom for its interment.
And now come the wicked Democrats, who never made any particular virtue of reciprocity. But singularly enough, they alone can be depended on to pass it.
It's like the man in the Bible who said he would go and did not, and the man who said he wouldn't go but he did.

Protecting home industries really rests on just the same basis as maintaining the industries of one's own town. Most of us believe in buying at home, even if it costs us a little more. Some of us would pay a good size tax if we could thereby get more industries here.

But few of us would pay any such tax, unless we had every opportunity to scrutinize the inside figures of the deal, and to see whether we had to pay twice a little afterward, and finally as much as necessary, and if the returns were enough to compensate for the burdens we had to bear.

Futhermore, if any such tax were laid on us indefinitely for the support of such an industry, we would be questioning whether it was an economical investment.

In the national field, the man who receive these subsidies have been permitted to name their own figures to friendly receptive committees. When the Consumer, the long suffering fellow who had to pay, rose to have an atti-mized bill read aloud in public meetings, he was promptly hushed down as out of order.

Some of the merchants who hold to the older business methods do not quite realize how modern trade has abandoned its former passive attitude.

Our older men will recall a time when buyers of manufactured goods used to visit the factories to make their purchases.
Manufacturing then was pretty well concentrated in the Eastern states, and long and difficult journeys were taken to see the goods personally.

A manufacturer of those days would have laughed at the idea that he spent his good money in sending out salesmen on costly junketing to jolly up the retailers. He was sure of a certain trade by sitting in his tracks and waiting for the business to come to his door.

Today the buyers sit down in their stores and wait for the manufacturers to send salesman to see them, and manufacturers that fail to do this lose their trade.

But a remnant of retailers still think they can do business on the old time principle of letting trade come to you. The public however, assumes that the man who thus fails to play the game of merchandising lacks confidence in his goods, since he is not willing to pay the ordinary expenses of selling them.

The newspaper advertisement serves with marvelous efficiency as the retailer's traveling salesmen. It tells his story to thousands of readers in the time a salesman would spend talking to one customer.

Watch a train load of people when the new periodicals are brought in. Two out of three turn first to the advertising.
They read the stories and articles turn to the advertising again. If you could enter the homes when the local newspaper is distributed, you would find a similar searching scrutiny of the store news.

The reason is obvious. The general news relates to things not directly connected with the personal interest of the reader.
The advertising talks about one's every day interests, like clothing and house furnishings and personal belongings.

In appeals to the ever present desire to live comfortably and attractively, and to reduce the cost of living. How can people help reading them.

TOBACCO TIDINGS.

The following article from the Morganfield Post is so cheering I reproduce headlines and all:

FINE PROGRESS IS BEING MADE.

Now Believed That There Will Be More Tobacco Pooled in This County Than Ever Here-fore—Union County Farmers Propose to Keep From Under Heel of Tobacco Trust.

By James N. Banks.
The Hustler reports an enthusiastic meeting at Madisonville last Saturday, as follows:

The farmers who are heart and soul in the upholding of the Stemming District Association and who believe in the ultimate victory against the trusts, were encouraged by the large crowd of Hopkins county farmers that gathered at the court house Saturday afternoon to discuss and hear discussed the situation as it now stands and as it affects the farmer. There is little doubt now but that the farmers of this county will again be one of the counties to pool this year's tobacco crop.

"W. W. Wilson presided at the meeting and the speakers were given close attention.

"General Manager William Elliot, of Henderson, was present and made a statement of the operations of the Association and showed that the expense of handling the immense crop by the association was less than $2.00 on the $100., not $2.00 on the hundred pounds of tobacco, as many seemed to think.

E. S. Davenport, of Muhlen-berg county, made an excellent talk in which he reviewed the conditions existing prior to tobacco trust is a corporation conducted to make every dollar possible for its stockholders, many of whom live in foreign countries.

This concern is going to buy tobacco just as low as it can be bought. This tobacco trust is in control of the market. If the farmer is not in position to say what his tobacco is worth, the trust will name the price, and do you think that price would be a good one? If you believe the tobacco trust will get in sympathy with the farmer and pay him a big price for his tobacco when it does not have to do it, you'd better get it out of your head right now and get your tobacco into the pool. If you do not like the association, pool as a business proposition. It is a financial proposition. It means dollars to you. It means an education and comforts for your children instead of million-dollar residences and luxurious living for the members of the tobacco trust. With the association you name the price. Without the association the tobacco trust will name it. Which shall it be?"—Henderson Glenister.

the association and since. He showed that the price of tobacco had been raised double in price by the Association.

"He showed that tobacco had dropped one-half since the Burley pool failed for last year.

"He said it was the policy of the association men to stand true to their colors, but they are tired of bearing the burden in order to give the outsider a top price and if the outsider did not wish to come in, the pool would be dissolved here and then, he said, the outsider would see the folly of remaining out, just as the outsider did in the Burley district.

"Louis Hancock made a short talk explaining several details of the work."

Ministers And Members Meeting.

The annual meeting of Baptists of the Ohio River Association, met with Caldwell Spring church. The body organized by electing Bro. P. A. Clark, of Pinkneyville, moderator; R. A.
LaRue, Clerk. The program of the meeting was taken up after enrollment of members. The discussions were edifying and brotherly. Bro. LaRue contended earnestly for woman's place in church work as subjective, unofficial, womanly. Bro. Can-nan sent an able, helpful paper on "The Ideal Sabbath School."

Bro. Pierce showed clearly from the scriptures that pastors should not have charge of more than one church. So we called ourselves "supplies." The sermons by Bros. Gibbs and Kinsolving were characteristic of the men and greatly enjoyed by the large congregation. Bro. Gregston discussed the practicability of country churches having every Sunday preaching. Practical because scriptural. Bro. McNeely opened discussion on "Is the annual protracted meeting best for our churches?" Most of the speakers pointed out objections to them. Bro. Wells opened discussion on "Is the mourners' bench scriptural?"

Lightning striking a tree near the church, and killing a mule brought the meeting to an exciting close, and rain prevented the usual meeting on Sunday,— a "striking" close.

The entertainment of the Caldwell Springs people was delightful and abundant.

A CORRECTION.

meeting at Mt. Zion the 13th of Morrow Delcines To Run For Nomination For Governor.

Lexington, Ky., April 27.—Edwin P. Morrow, United States Attorney for the Eastern Kentucky district, in a signed card conclusively settles the question whether he would be a candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor. Mr. Morrow, as had been expected, declines to make the race, and thus leaves his uncle, Senator W. O. Bradley, free to give his influence to any other candidate he may choose.

Mr. Morrow is attending the session of the United States court at Richmond and sent above announcement by messenger to this city.

The Annual meeting of the Kentucky State Dental Association, to be held in Owensboro, May 23-24-25, promises to be of more than usual interest to the dentists of this and neighboring States on account of the numerous new methods and appliances which will be exhibited there.

Dentistry, unlike many professions, cannot be learned altogether from books and magazines, and consequently, it is almost obligatory for the progressive dentist to attend these meetings.
Several dentists from Ohio, Indiana and Illinois will give clinics; in fact everything indicates that this will be the largest and best meeting ever held in Kentucky.

All ethical members of the profession are invited to attend this meeting.

I believe Hays' Specific to be an effectual and complete cure for eczema, and a valuable remedy for other ills. I am not interested, directly or indirectly, in the medicine, but I am acquainted with the gentlemen who are putting it up and know they are strictly business men, and would not fool away their time with anything even resembling a humbug. I personally know that the remedy that they are selling has cured some ugly cases of eczema. I have taken it for indigestion, and it has given me more relief than any other prescription I have ever tried.—John K. Hendrick, Attorney, Paducah, Ky. M4-11-18-25.

Never Had a Senator.

The First congressional district of Kentucky to the Gibraltarian Democratic district of our state which comprises 15,000 of the population on election day; it is the bulwark to which Democracy looks in the time of battle, and yet this great district has never been honored in all the history of the Democratic party for more than a hundred years with the selection of one of her sons as the nominee of the Democratic party. The district in which we live, which has given us a man who furnished a United States senator from Kentucky for three-fourths of the time since Kentucky was admitted into the Union. And I submit to a fair democracy that it did only just that the Gibraltarian Democratic district of the state should for one time in more than a century be given the nomination as the standard-bearer of the Democratic party for the United States senatorship. We have given you our votes in all the struggles for these years without complaint. We submit to the fairness and the right of the people of the whole state that this request is more than reasonable. It is true I am a member of the great committee upon Ways and Means, the first Democrat to hold the place from Kentucky since the days of George Bent, Brown, Breckinridge and of Montgomery, fought my way to the front bearing the stainless banner of the people's rights. If I have endeared myself to my colleagues, it was because I was a Democrat and a lover of the rights of man, a believer in justice for all humanity, and that I bore no whitewash brushless nor flag of truce to the Republican party.

Appreciates Paynter's Compliment.

While I appreciate greatly the high compliment my unwilling opponent pays me in saying that I ought to be kept in the house, that the people can not spare me from that forum, I can not say for myself that he ought to be in the senate. The seat today is the one rock against which the ship of the people for relief breaks. It is the last stand of plutocracy; it is the rendezvous of the vested interests; it is the lair of corporate greed. The people of Kentucky need one who will fight for them, one who is their friend and unafraid.

The Democrats of the Senate Repudiate Paynter.

Senator Paynter, a Democrat of Kentucky to improve his record, and yet with a shrinking that is almost shameless, fails to call attention to those parts of his political record which have brought him into the white light of public attention. He asks the people of Kentucky to approve his record, yet when the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill was under consideration with its 4,500 schedules which oppress humanity, with the unlimited right of debate and amendment which exists in the senate with the vested interests of taxation under this law the Senator never opened his mouth in opposition to the oppressive schedules which effect the things most needed in the homes of our people. The farmer was being taxed, the laborer was being taxed, the merchant, the manufacturer, the business man, and yet the Senator with weeks and months of time at his disposal during this discussion never rose to point out to the senate and to the country these wrongs that were being attempted upon the American people when the bill was passed by Congress. But not so when Lorimer, the "blond boss" from Chicago, the Republican millionaire, the man who voted for the force bill to reduce southern representation, to place back upon the white people of the South the black rule of negro domination, since he was elected to represent the people who were elected by the voice of the people from southern states. Yet when Lorimer, who was elected by corrupt methods, the like of which has never disgraced any other assembly, with the possible exception of Guggenheim, made Lorimer, who said in his speech upon the floor of the senate that he voted an Aldrich bill; Aldrich was his leader and when the bells rang for the vote he went into the senate and did not ask for a quorum or a roll call. "Does the bill tax humanity, or does it relieve their burdens?" But he only asked the brutal question, "How did Aldrich vote? I vote as he votes." When this man's title to a seat was under discussion in the senate upon a report which Senator Paynter helped to make up to Kentucky Senator found time to speak for hours in the defense of this man, who was elected by these corrupt methods, who stands for everything that oppresses mankind, who is the agent of the system. The Senator for hours, in the name of the people, and representing the people, spoke in defense of Lorimer. And yet, fellow citizens, this same Senator Lorimer, who was elected by this corruption, a corruption so glaring and outrageous that four men, conscience stricken, who took prints when forced to do so, implicating three other members of the legislature who they had corrupted them, making seven in all. But Senator Paynter says you should deduct the seven from the total number of votes, and if Lorimer had a majority of those remaining he was elected to the senate. No wonder the Republican Senate created a place for the senator upon the committee of the Judiciary; it is a wonder they do not elevate him to the supreme court of the United States; for the holding that he made in my judgment, would be the most repulsive and abominable. The idea of saying that a man may become a candidate for office and may go forth and bribe the number down to where he has a majority of those unbiased and get the office is the announcement of a doctrine that would undermine the Republic and make a nation worse than it is now, the bulwark of plutocracy, bribery and corruption. Say there are a hundred members in the legislature, and say that I have 26 honest men who are for me and my opponent has 74 who are for him. If I have to do according to the doctrine of the distinguished Senator, the doctrine he invoked to hold Lorimer in his seat, is to go and bribe 49 of the men who are for him, and then you subtract 49 from the total number of 75, and 26 being a majority of his remaining supporters, I will be entitled to that seat. One-half of the people would have been disfranchised and bribery, brutal, corrupt and impudent would have triumphed and the member they desired elected.

Stopping A River To Sink A Tunnel!

A modern parallel of Joshua's miracle of old was furnished in the stopping of the flow of the Chicago River while the twin tube for the La Salle Street tunnel of the Chicago street railway system was being sunk into place, says Popular Mechanics. The precaution was necessary as the enormous tube is 278 ft. long and 41 ft. in width, would otherwise have dammed the river, probably resulting in the displacement of the tunnel and serious damage to the bridge and shipping of Chicago's busy waterway.

GROUP CONQUERED

Every Mother Should Read And Remember This.

In any home where a child has a tendency to croup, a bottle of HYOMEI (pronounce it High-o-me) should be kept constantly on hand.

A sudden attack of croup with difficult breathing and extreme distress is apt to come on at any time.

The course to be pursued is plain. Send for your doctor at once, and in the meantime drop 30 drops of HYOMEI into a bowl of boiling water, and hold the child's head over it, cover with a towel or cloth, so that only the air filled with Hyomei vapor is breathed.

This method of treatment has saved many a child's life, and mothers of croupy children should see to it that HYOMEI is always on hand. Full instructions for prompt relief of croup is in each package.

A 50 cent bottle of HYOMEI is all you need in treating croup. This is known in all drug stores as Extra Bottled Hyomei Inhalant. Haynes & Taylor and druggists everywhere sell it. Breathe HYOMEI. It is guaranteed to cure cataract, croup, sore throat, bronchitis, coughs and colds, or money back.

Lorimer's Speeches in Kentucky.

The speeches of Senator Lorimer, now being circulated through Kentucky in every county in it, speeches paid for by Lorimer, speeches circulated under the frank of Lorimer at government expense, sent out by Lorimer for the purpose of bidding Senator Fritts, and I am informed, "to be true," that he was paid for the State of "Kentucky" was printed upon the envelopes that enclosed these speeches, and the mailing list used in sending them out, was one furnished by Senator Paynter. This is Lorimerism attempted, here in Kentucky, attempting to influence the election of a United States Senator in a Democratic primary, by sending the United States mails for the purpose, and yet this, we may be told, is some of that unseen influence, so far as Senator Paynter is concerned, that was used to elect Lorimer. That men were bribed in Springfield, Illinois, and yet Senator Paynter again was recorded as not voting, and his regular pair, Senator Guggenheim, was recorded as voting against the amendment. The amendment, of course, would have affected the profits that have made Mr. Guggenheim a millionaire, and he is not to be blamed off the personal interest of a public official, but is allowed to control above his head and his public duty, for the sake of enriching himself at the expense of the consuming public. But the inquiry I desire to make is where was Senator Paynter and why did he not vote for this amendment? With whom was he paired? There is none announced for him.

Paynter's Vote on Cash Registers.

On June 26, 1909, an amendment was offered reducing the duty from 30 per cent to 15 per cent upon cash registers. Senator Paynter again was not voting, and Senator Guggenheim rose in his place and used the following language: "I have a pair with the senior senator from Kentucky, Mr. Paynter. I transfer that pair to the senator from Delaware, Mr. DuPont, and vote, I do not." So he would appear from this when Guggenheim was speaking, paid utter no attention to the pair and he transferred it to some absent millionaire like DuPont and then cast his own vote. In congressional and senatorial parlance, Guggenheim transferred Senator Paynter to a dead pair, but I have examined the record and found that he did not complain made by Senator Paynter of being transferred about by Guggenheim to DuPont as the exigencies of the occasion might require.

Free Lumber.

On June 26, 1909, when the question came up on free lumber, Senator Paynter was absent and not voting and Guggenheim on this vote announced a pair, but he did not transfer it and nowhere stated how he was paired. So Senator Paynter had been present. It might have been that Guggenheim would have voted for free lumber, at least I know of no state that needs free lumber worse than Colorado. Mr. Guggenheim may tell his people that he would have voted for free lumber if he did not have the courage to say he would have voted against it, and that Senator Paynter would have voted against free lumber. The Record does not disclose. Free lumber was a platform promise made by the Democratic party in national convention in Denver, Colorado. Senator Paynter said to him, "Lorimer, you must be sworn the honor of your country is at stake, my honor is at stake, your honor is a stake. Tell us did you know of this bribery?" But Senator Paynter made his report smearing Lorimer with whitewash and saying that he boarded at the Young Men's Christian Association building and was sick for two days, the Ballinger investigating committee was in session for five months. Ballinger was upon the stand for eight days; he could have been recalled at any time, as Senator Paynter well knew, for the purpose of exposing him, but he did not. And yet the Senator resigned from the committee because he could not cross-examine him. The Ballinger case did not affect the property of the people. It did not affect the honor of Senator Paynter as a member of the Senate, but it did affect the great and important sources of the people. After resigning from the committee because he did not have an opportunity to cross-examine Ballinger, as he said, he sits for weeks and months upon the Lorimer case with the whole Republic bring along with charges of bribery against him and never once said to him, "Lorimer, you must be sworn the honor of your country is at stake, my honor is at stake, your honor is a stake. LIQUID CURES ECZEMA WHERE SALVE FAILS

In regard to skin diseases medical authorities are now agreed on this:

Don't imprison the disease germs in your skin by the use of greasy salves, and thus encourage them to multiply. A true cure of all eczematous diseases can be brought about only by using the healing agents in the form of a liquid.

WASH THE GERMS OUT. A simple wash: A compound of Oil of Wintergreen, Thymol, and other ingredients as combined in the D. D. Prescription, penetrates to the disease germs and destroys it, then soothes and heals the skin as nothing else has ever done.

A 25-cent trial bottle will start the cure, and give you instant relief.

Sold by J. H. Orme, Marion, Ky.
